

Impression of WUR Teachers Day 2019

On the 10th of December WUR had its annual Teachers Day. The lower levels of the Orion building were full of inspired teachers, sessions and an information market. Perry den Brok and Erik Heijmans started by showing Education and Learning Sciences (ELS) / 4TU.CEE research on Educational Innovations at Wageningen University. They were followed by keynotes, sub-sessions and discussion on new pedagogical philosophies. After the option to meet the speakers during lunch, the afternoon sessions elaborated on innovations in education. The closing session brought us back to earth as the panel moderated by Arnold Bregt (Dean of education) discussed common problems lecturers encounter during their classes. It was a well-attended and inspiring event showing a lot of education innovation and the visions behind them. Next December you can be inspired again at the WUR teachers Day 2020.
